

Introduction to Sustainability at Work

An introduction to the straight-forward principles at the heart of business sustainability. Join us to explore the broad range of career and business innovation opportunities that are emerging from our increasing understanding of the relationships between organisations and their environments.

NOTE: This ACFE-funded course requires proof of Australian citizenship.

Learn to:

- ✓ See organizations and the environment as a series of inter-related systems.
- ✓ Understand how environmental impacts and resource usage occur across inter-related systems.
- ✓ Identify win/win/win opportunities for profitable sustainability projects.
- ✓ Understand the critical importance of conversations and relationships in sustainability project success.

Outcomes:

- ✓ Better understand the connections between organisations and their environments.
- ✓ Increase your capability to identify win/win/win sustainability opportunities.
- ✓ Become more skilful in initiating and advancing sustainability projects.
- ✓ Contribute more effectively to green team activities at work

For people who want to:

- ✓ Make a difference to sustainability at work
- ✓ Develop their existing careers
- ✓ Explore new career opportunities
- ✓ Develop more sustainable business strategies and practices

WHERE AND WHEN

Coonara Community House, Upper Ferntree Gully $50 plus $20 amenities
Wednesday evenings 6:30 to 9:30pm, 7 sessions, 15th Feb – 28th March
Information and enrolments: <http://www.coonarahouse.org.au/Courses>

Mulgrave Neighbourhood House $50 plus $20 amenities
Thursday evenings 6:30 to 9:30pm, 7 sessions 16th Feb – 29th March
Information and enrolments: <http://www.mnh.org.au/courses.htm>

TUTOR

Tutor Leigh Baker is an author and sustainability educator with many years of business experience. Find out more about Leigh at: <http://au.linkedin.com/in/balance3>

Tutor Testimonials

“Leigh provides some really thought provoking insights to allow us to better communicate a message and understand how we might repackage or reconsider our approaches to getting the sustainability message across.”

Mark Sanders, Managing Director, Third Ecology

“Leigh has a positive approach to sustainability and life and this really shows in way she delivers her workshop. I left the workshop inspired to approach sustainability issues in a new way.”

Kelly Green, Sustainability Manager, Queen Victoria Market - Melbourne